EAST ROCHESTER PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT MISSION, VISION, AND BELIEFS

Education for all students in the East Rochester School District is delivered by highly qualified teachers and staff, with the level of rigor as outlined in the Next Generation Learning Standards, and in alignment with the beliefs and goals of the District. The District recognizes the correlation between student success and skilled tier one instruction.

The East Rochester School District is committed to the success of each child in a safe, supportive, and stimulating learning environment. We believe that all students develop intellectually, emotionally, physically, and socially at different paces. Our school district will inspire high student achievement and demonstrate commitment to diversity. The following statements describe the mission, vision, and beliefs developed by a committee of school-district stakeholders.

MISSION:

The Mission of the East Rochester School District is to prepare students to be college and career ready and to provide a quality education in a safe environment where all students develop the abilities, attitudes and values necessary for responsible, productive citizenship.

VISION:

The Vision of the East Rochester School District is that students will learn through the highest quality instruction which recognizes each student's strengths, talents, interests, learning styles and rates of learning, using developmentally appropriate methods.

DISTRICT CORE VALUES:

Students First

Students are our first priority. We dedicate ourselves to holistic student development in a safe, nurturing environment.

Opportunity

We provide every student equal access to strong academic programs, clubs, teams and events that enable students to reach their fullest potential.

Achievement

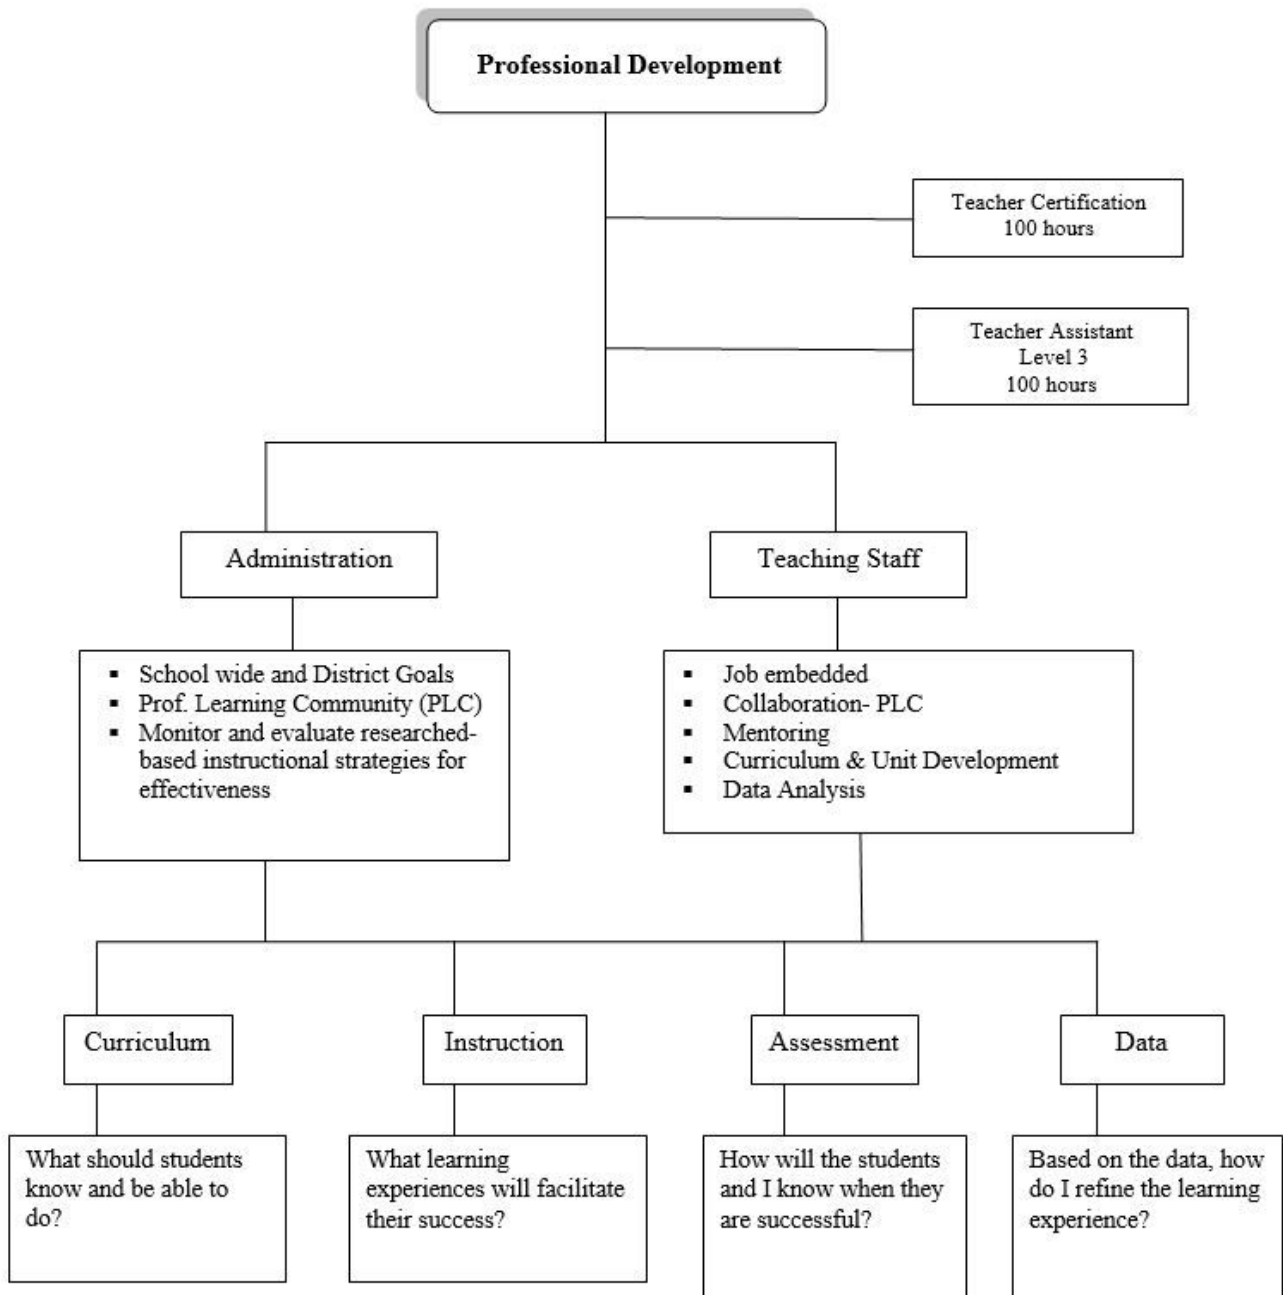

Everyone can improve. We collaborate to learn, observe, measure and grow. We proudly celebrate achievements.

Responsibility

We are all accountable to ourselves, to our students and to each other. Our shared responsibility is to be respectful.

Strength

Together, we will accomplish excellence.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN (PDP) NEEDS ASSESSMENT PRIORITIZING

Student and teacher needs, along with district goals and objectives, will determine the Plan's priorities as it guides us in 21st Century learning. Our ongoing analysis of the school district's summative and formative assessments, evaluation of professional development opportunities and ongoing communications / feedback has identified the following areas of focus:

BELIEFS:

1. High quality professional development is focused, sustained, work embedded, collaborative and purposeful professional learning that results in student achievement.
2. District Administrators are instructional leaders who support staff in assuming leadership roles to enhance learning communities.
3. Monroe BOCES #1 supports and guides common themes that arise that could be addressed through professional development or other resources.
4. Professional Development encourages lifelong learning and empowers staff members to fully develop their potential, thereby enabling them to respond effectively to a variety of challenges in the educational system.

ESSENTIAL QUESTIONS:

- If professional learning communities are the solution, then what is the problem?
 - How are PLCs supporting district initiatives? i.e. technology initiative of 1 to 1 devices for all students
- To what extent can the successful implementation of professional learning communities' impact student engagement and achievement?
- To what extent do successfully implemented professional learning communities support the standards of high quality professional growth?

INTRODUCTION

Subdivision (dd) of Section 100.2 of the Regulations of the Commissioner of Education requires that by September 1, 2000, and annually by September 1 of each school year thereafter, school districts adopt a professional development plan. The purpose of this multi-year plan is to continue to improve the quality of teaching and learning by ensuring that teachers participate in substantial professional development to remain current in their profession while meeting the learning needs of their students.

High-quality professional development fosters change in classroom practice resulting in increased academic achievement for all students. We can ensure professional development is “time well spent” if we provide professional development opportunities that are job-embedded, sustained over time, centered on active learning, and focused on student outcomes.

We need to be creative in how future professional development opportunities could be provided. “Early release” days could provide the opportunity to build the foundation for professional learning communities to study student work, lesson design, assessments, technology integration, and other job-embedded practices to impact student achievement. Currently time is allocated one hour per month for the learning team to work together to use data to understand what students are not learning and to find instructional gaps, determine what the teachers need to do to help close those gaps, and implement the new strategies.

Additional support for the professional learning communities needs to be provided during the school day. The current structure somewhat supports effective professional learning communities. At the Elementary level, common planning time for grade level teams is built in the schedule. This is also true at the Middle level which provides flexibility for grade level teams to collaborate. At the High School level, other alternatives are considered in order to provide department or team collaborative time.

GOALS / ENDURING UNDERSTANDINGS:

Professional development is a key component of assuring quality instruction by knowledgeable and effective educators for all students in the district. To that end, the East Rochester UFSD Professional Development Plan has the following goals and enduring understandings:

East Rochester stakeholders will understand that:

- Professional learning communities are an ongoing process used to establish a school wide culture that is based on a fundamental belief in building teacher leadership in school improvement efforts
 - Professional learning communities are not a prescription, a new program, a model, or an innovation to be implemented. Rather, a PLC is an infrastructure or a way of working together that results in continuous school improvement
- Through participation in professional learning communities, teachers enhance their leadership capacity as they work as members of ongoing, high-performing, collaborative teams that focus on improving student learning through job-embedded professional development
 - To capitalize on the in-district professional knowledge and expertise to create coherence, continuity and capacity in the professional growth of the district
 - Maintain the flexibility to meet the professional development needs of individual teachers, administrators, and paraprofessionals in all subject areas, grade levels, job descriptions, and levels of experience
 - Knowledge is situated in the day-to-day experiences of teachers and is best understood through critical reflection with others who share the same experiences. Actively engaging teachers in professional learning communities will increase their professional knowledge and enhance student learning (Vescio, Ross, & Adams, 2006)
- Develop goals, objectives, and programs in response to student data. Analysis of student data by grade level teams, departments, or district curriculum committees is essential for program or instructional change / improvement to occur
 - Establish a set of protocols and procedures, including viable needs assessment(s), to establish, assess, and maintain responsive, sustained, relevant and accessible professional development that meets the needs and demands of district professionals
- The content of the East Rochester Union Free School District Professional Development and Mentor Plan is being supported in part by BOCES (Mid-West, JMT), RBERN, and RSE-TASC Teacher Centers and their approved CTLE providers.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN SOURCES USED:

As part of the ongoing professional development planning cycle, the East Rochester School District reviews multiple data sources. The following documents are analyzed annually to determine the focus and content of the Professional Development Plan:

School Report Card

New York Grades 3 – 8 Assessment Data

Student Attendance Rates

ESSA Disapline Reports

New York State Regents Reports

Graduation and Drop-out Rates

Special Education Classification Rates and Annual Reviews

State & District Benchmarks for Student Performance

Advanced Placement Test Results

Historical Data Comparison

Formative and Summative Assessment Data

RTI Universal Screening and Progress Monitoring

Professional Development Needs Assessment Survey,
Evaluations and Feedback

Review of this data, leads East Rochester School District to identification of the following Professional Development objectives.

OBJECTIVES:

- Increase student achievement for ALL students by the successful implementation of professional learning communities that are high functioning collaborative learning teams.
 - To increase ongoing collaboration within departments and teams with emphasis on collaborative unit development, alignment of resources throughout grade levels, departments and buildings, and development of common assessments
 - To put into practice research-based instructional strategies that are monitored and evaluated for effectiveness (using summative and formative assessments to inform instructional needs)
 - To increase and strengthen teacher knowledge, subject/content matter and classroom management skills in order to ensure that all reach high academic achievement
- To provide a mentoring program that will improve new teachers' abilities to assist students in meeting Next Generation Learning Standards, increase retention of new teachers, and provide guidance and support
 - Teachers will participate in professional development:
 - work sessions for 1.0 hr. for six (6) meetings scheduled within the months from Sept. – June
 - that increases their understanding of the instructional, content and curricular shift within the Next Generation Learning Standards
 - that addresses the needs of diverse learners – differentiated instruction strategies
 - that improves the learning of all students by collaborating with others to improve instruction and increase student engagement and achievement
 - that improves teachers understanding of the value of common formative and summative assessments
 - to understand what the data represents; make decisions based on analysis of student work and to make changes or improve instructional strategies

Professional Learning Communities (PLC)	providing professional development through focused meetings of all content areas in one grade level (i.e. all 1 st grade teachers, 7th grade English, Social Studies, Math, and Science teachers)
Vertical Team Meetings	providing professional development through focused meetings with all grade levels in the same content areas (i.e. 6th, 7th and 8th grade teachers of Science)

EVALUATION STANDARDS

- Professional development workshops offered by the East Rochester School District will be evaluated by feedback received from the participants. (PD evaluation attached - pg. 18 & 19)
- Teacher observations will document changes in teacher practices.
- School improvement efforts will be supported with the development of understanding and addressing district goals.
- APPR evaluations.

When our school functions as a PLC we will:

- Collectively pursue shared mission, vision, values and goals
- Work interdependently in collaborative teams focused on learning
- Engage in ongoing collective inquiry into best practice and the "current reality" of student achievement and the prevailing practices of the school
- Demonstrate an action orientation and experimentation
- Participate in systematic processes to promote continuous improvement
- Maintain an unrelenting focus on results

In their subsequent work Dr. DuFour, Dr. Eaker, and Rebecca DuFour argue that these characteristics are driven by "Three Big Ideas" that guide the daily work of educators in a PLC:

1. The fundamental purpose of the school is to ensure high levels of learning for all students, and the extent to which the school is successful in achieving that purpose will have a profound effect on the short-term and long-term success of students. The relevant question in a PLC is not "Was it taught?" but rather, "Was it learned?" The shift from a focus on teaching to a focus on learning underpins the work of a PLC.
2. Educators cannot fulfill the fundamental purpose of learning for all if they work in isolation. Therefore, they must work together collaboratively to address those issues that have the greatest impact on student learning and must take collective responsibility to ensure the learning takes place.
3. Educators will not know the extent to which students are learning unless they have a results orientation, constantly seeking evidence and indicators of student learning. They will use that evidence to identify students who need additional time and support for learning and to inform and improve their own practice in the classroom.

The Department will ask that the certificate holder attest to his/her completion of the 100 hours prior to his/her re-registration. He/she will also be responsible to retain a record of the CTLE programs attended and the number of hours completed. Certificate holders will attest that they have completed the 100 hours of required CTLE, must retain records of completed CTLE, and must provide documentation if requested showing that they have complied with the CTLE requirement.

TO DO List
